Can Fix Ocean Rates.

The California State Railroad Commission made one of the most important decisions in regard to state rights ever handed down. The commission decided that the state has the right to fix rates for commerce between its own ports, even though that commerce may pass through a portion of the high seas. The public utilities act gives the state the right to regulate steamship rates.

Democrats Convene In Martinez Today

County Central Committee Calls Session to Consider Recall of Senator Owens.

Special to The Richmond Terminal.
MARTINEZ, Cal., July 11.—Evidence is being submitted today in the matter of the recall of Senator J. C. Owens, who is charged with violating his pre-election pledges. The evidence was attested and sworn to, which is conclusive that Mr. Owens will be recalled.

Referendum Election.

City Clerk Faris has received petitions containing 300 names of electors calling for a referendum election requiring the city council to submit the picket ordinance to the people.

The petitions require that the ordinance be submitted at either a general or special election, the former being preferred on account of expense attached. By combining elections the recall would not be the subject of attack and abuse. Designing politicians would bring the recall into disrepute. As the ordinance now stands, it is a "dead one" until the referendum vote has been taken.

Substantial Increase.

The county assessment roll recently completed by County Assessor Meese and corps of assistants shows an increase of more than $4,000,000. Mr. Meese is to be complimented for his work in completing the rolls, as this is the first year that they have been completed with such promptness. The total assessment for the county this year is $41,573,540 as against a total of $37,230,150 for last year. The present tax rate is $1.50 on $100 assessed valuation.

Reorganization of the City Council "Quiet"

Picton, Fernald and Lane Seated. Ludwig Elected Mayor By "Solid Six"

Reorganization of the city council took place Monday night, the city hall auditorium being crowded with spectators to witness the "ceremonies" and reorganization of the city council by the substitution of three new members (Picton, Fernald and Lane) for the retiring trio—Owens, McDuff and Dooling.

Balloting for Mayor was the first order of business, and although the "star chamber" was dispensed with, it was an "easy bet" that Ludwig was the winner, receiving six votes to Councilman Gerrard's three.

Mayor Ludwig blushing took the chair, and after delivering an appropriate speech, the regular routine of business was taken up, the appointment of committees being deferred until later, as Mayor Ludwig desires to give this important matter more consideration and select good men for the various committees.

The applications of E. W. Hasey and John R. Kiely for appointment of police judge were filed.

Committee asked by Gamewell fire alarm company to confer with in regard to minor matters in installing system, Ludwig, Follett and Peury, committee.

Follett criticised sewer connections, which required taking up pavement and replacing. Supt. of streets was ordered to inspect work hereafter.

Councilman Lane complained about rank growth of weeds on Macdonald ave., claiming this was in violation of city ordinance. On motion of Follett notices were ordered published that in cases of delinquency, the work will be charged against the property.

City Bills.

Bills allowed by the city council Monday night totaled $2450.35. Only three bills ran into four figures—Western States Gas and Electric, $940.50; street sprinkling and sweeping, $447.Independent, printing, $213.50, and premium on official bonds, $107.50.

He Wants to Know.

Several pertinent questions are being propounded by citizens in regard to the Gamewell fire alarm and police telegraph system recently adopted by the city council. Here are some of the queries:

Is the Gamewell system up to date?

Is the price to be paid by property owners ($30,000) exorbitant?

Could a better system have been purchased for $20,000?

Why did the city council close the deal at an adjourned session so near the installment of the newly-elected councilmen, one of whom is an expert electrician and authority on fire alarm systems and could have rendered the city valuable assistance?

Can politics be eliminated from the conduct of municipal affairs and the city's improvements and internal machinery run on business principles?

May Start Soon.

The contract for the filling of Cutting boulevard which was awarded some time ago by the city council to the Richmond Improvement company, has been unavoidably delayed. Work will begin at once, in conjunction with the work for the Ellis Landing and Dock Co. at the foot of Tenth street.

City Hall Agitation.

City Hall agitation is beginning to wax warm again, as the time for the expiration of the lease of the present quarters draw near. Many citizens are of the opinion that to renew the present west side quarters would be detrimental to the growth of the city as a whole, and advocate a more central location.

School board issues call for bond election ($150,000) for new school buildings. Election to be held August 1.

GIVES WASHINGTON GREAT SHOCK

Confessions of a "Lobbyist" Are Most Amazing to Official Circles

David Lamar Tells of Impersonating Congressmen and Alleges Great Railway Forgery

Washington, July 2.—Official Washington is amazed and stunned over the day's disclosures in the senate lobby investigation.

These are a few of the sensational revelations made at the sessions of the committee:

David Lamar confessed that he was the mysterious unknown who impersonated congressmen in telephone talks intended to influence Wall street matters. Lewis Cass Ledyard, personal friend and executor of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, clinched the identity of Lamar as the "man at the other end of the wire" and added details of an underground campaign of a similar nature, which has been conducted for two years by persons purporting to represent the foremost leaders of the Democratic party, who promised to control the money trust investigation, the steel trust investigation and the attitude of the Democratic administration generally toward Wall street, if Morgan and his associates would be "reasonable."

Lamar, with smiling frankness, assured the committee that he prepared the resolution which resulted in the investigation of the steel trust by the Stanley committee, handed it over to H. W. Martin, chairman of the Anti-Trust League, by whom it was turned handed to Chairman Stanley, who introduced it.

Forgery of the books of the Union Pacific railroad, whereby some one derived a profit of $82,000,000, was charged by Lamar, who followed this accusation with the assertion that this crime, in 1901, served as the fulcrum from which many of the big deals in Wall street have been swung and many large individual fortunes accumulated.

One after another these dramatic revelations were laid before the committee, which was kept in an almost continuous gasp of astonishment.

"As a result of the panic of 1907," said Lamar, "Harriman, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the National City Bank and Morgan & Co. became bound together as with an iron band."

"For the purpose of rendering my friend Lauterbach a service," he said, "and to restore him to his former friendly relations with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Jacob Schiff and the Union Pacific officials, I did have conversations over the telephone with the Union Pacific officials and others in and those conversations I did use the names of other persons. But there was no suggestion of a fee to Mr. Lauterbach. On the strength of these telephone messages Judge Lovett came here and charged that Edward Lauterbach had tried to blackmail him."

The Lauterbach incident, he added, "paled into insignificance," compared with an $82,000,000 forgery which he alleged was committed on the Union Pacific books in 1901.

"I do not know who did it," said Lamar, "the chairman of the board or the office boy, but I do know this $82,000,000 was the fulcrum which enabled Harriman and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to gain control of these corporations."

He described a double entry of $82,000,000 representing securities the Union Pacific assumed in taking over the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railway and Navigation company. The items, he said, were carried in the "consolidated balance sheet" of the Union Pacific June 30, 1900, but between that time and June 30, 1901, he alleged some one had erased the $82,000,000 item from one side of the ledger, leaving it as a credit balance on the other side.

"They took all the securities of the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railway and Navigation company," he said, "and used them as security for an issue of bonds. They got that money and used it to finance the deal for the Northern Pacific and Great Northern transactions and the flotation of Great Northern Ore properties, which they sold out at an enormous profit."

Latter, Lamar alleged, the principals in the transaction went to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and secretly got nearly $200,000,000 which he believed was for their own use.

Lamar testified he used the name of Representative Daniel J. Rioridan of New York, telephoning to Chairman Lovett of the Union Pacific. On another occasion, Lamar testified, he called up Paul D. Cravath of counsel for the Union Pacific, suggesting Lauterbach would be a valuable adviser.

Senator Overman insisted on knowing if Lamar ever impersonated any other congressman.

"Oh, Lord; I may have," said Lamar.

Portugal Accepts Peace Principle

Looks as though tall Cy Falkenberg is trying to win the flag for the Naps single-handed.

Kid Elberfeld opines that Nap Lajoie hits the ball harder than anybody else that ever took a bat in hand.

"Fresh" Regh, the youngster whom the Pirates sent to St. Paul, hit for 400 in his first 11 games in the American association.

Bobby Byrne, the Pirate third baseman, says he will not be a poorer batsman as the result of being hit by one of Joe Wood's shots.

Manager Connie Mack has only three players on his team who are hitting 300. Eddie Collins, Ira Thomas and Struck are the three.

Pete Knisely, the heavy-cloutng outfielder, who goes to the Birmingham team, should break up the Southern league this summer.

There are so many has-been major leaguers in the Federal league, that some persons are thinking of calling it the G. A. R. league.

Big Jim Vaughan is pitching winning ball for the Kansas City Blues. He would hold the Highlanders this year if he were only with them now.

"The Athletics do not display the dash of last season; they must improve to win the flag," says one Washington critic, who apparently believes what he is saying.

Danny Murphy predicts the flag for the Athletics this year. Danny fears the Senators, though, and even concedes them a possible chance to beat out his team.

Ty Cobb having advised ball players not to go on the stage, it is believed theater patrons will raise a purse of $15,000 per annum if Ty can prevent these calamities.

New York fans say that beating Washington these days is a grown-up man's task. They claim that the Senators play as if they knew the pennant was within reach.

Larry Lajoie beat out a bunt the other day, which feat called for full-faced type. A Lajoie bunt? Gee, don't you know what it is, anything that stays inside the fence.

St. Paul has released Pitcher Elmer Steele, who failed to come back. Steele hopes his arm will get in shape with warm weather and he will make another try, possibly in the New York State league.

Mike Kelly is proving himself to be a wizard as head of the Indianapolis team of the American association.

Western newspapers are making almost as much fuss over the Federal league as they do over the two majors.

Scotty Ingerton, who was once a member of the Cubs, has been sold by the Indianapolis club to the Louisville club. He is a great pinch hitter, but is too slow for a regular.

Ganzel, son of Charley Ganzel, the old Detroit catcher, is Hugh Duffy's first baseman on the Portland team. Duffy says he has a club that will make the going very fast in the New England league.

Bostonians now are calling Little Maraville "the Rabbit." Also they are rising to proclaim that he is one of the very few men in the game who really can "place" a hit, which overcomes his inability to smash the ball quite as hard as some of his larger contemporaries.

SPORTING WORLD

Brown easily outpointed Wesleyan in their annual dual track meet, winning 68 to 58.

Prizes won at the Olympic games at Stockholm by James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian athlete, will be awarded to the men who finished second in the events.

Coach Pat O'Dea of the Leland Stanford university oarsmen, is booming a project to pull off an international college boat race on Oakland estuary in 1915.

Princeton won the intercollegiate gun championship with a sweeping victory over Yale and Dartmouth. The team scores were: Princeton, 407; Yale, 312; Dartmouth, 294.

The announcement of the proposed revival of racing on the big tracks of the Empire state has resulted in a booming of the thoroughbred market of New York that has not been equalled since 1910.

English polo hopes have received a severe setback through the injury of Walter S. Buckmaster, rated head and shoulders above any of the challenging team. Buckmaster may be unable to play at all.

An intercollegiate athletic meet will be held on the lake front on July 1 and 2 in connection with the international athletic games under the auspices of the International Athletic Championships association.

His Lack of Will.

"I used to think my husband had a strong will," she complained.

"It seems to me you ought to be proud of him. A man who can give up smoking and absolutely refrain from tasting any kind of strong drink must have a will that is extraordinary."

Slighted Johnson.

Men who become suddenly rich should be judged leniently. They have many temptations from which the rest of us are happily delivered.

Scientific Point Cleared Up.

A German astronomer has published a series of tables which seem to show a connection between the appearance of sun spots and the wabbling motion of the earth on its axis, due, perhaps, to a variation in the sun's magnetism.

Celery Croquettes.

One cup mashed potato, three-fourths cup finely sliced celery, one and one-half cups of butter, two tablespoonfuls chopped nuts, not too fine, a little salt.

Bolled Rice.

After washing the rice put it over the fire in plenty of actually boiling salted water and let it boil fast for 12 minutes; then drain off all the water.

Paper Pillow.

Fishing on the Dwina

RUSSIAN COAST SCENE

THERE were six of us, four men and two women, all bare legged, the men with their trousers rolled up well above the knees, the women in short underpetticoats.

As usual we drew in the nets slowly and heavily and approached one another, and then stood hopeful, watching the fish.

With a one, two, three, we landed the heavy sack of the net with its complement of mud and weeds and shells and splashing, slithering fish.

By 11 o'clock, when the sky was steeped in the first red of sunset, we had already cast the net six times, and were content with the result.

Fortune remained with us—God allowed the fish to be caught, as one mouluk put it—and we did well.

At 1 in the morning the deep band of sunset still glowed in the north and west. The waters of the river flowed crimson with purple, and the sands were becoming brown again as the dusk settled down.

At 3 it was cold, and we finished our fishing and built a brushwood bonfire on the beach. It crackled, smoked and flamed, scorched our bare legs, but warmed our bodies. Yet the tea was good.

Helped Them Die.

Suicide has often been regarded as a luxury, and Marseilles, France, colonized from Miletus in ancient days, preserved a custom and a prison for many years under Roman rule.

Cure for Heart Disease.

Sugar is a splendid medicine for the heart in certain diseases of this organ. In others such as diabetes it has no effect.

Stories About Words.

"Tool" and "tough" are words that Sir James Murray is at present pursuing for his great dictionary.

A Face.

It was sun-darkened, storm-bitten, gaunt from suffering under the iron of self-repression, mystical in its manifestation of a cosmos within—the face of an exile—who has felt the taste of fish, the distance of women and the presence of God.

WATER MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Use of Hard or Soft is Something for Serious Consideration When Cooking is in Order.

All cooks do not understand the different effects produced by hard and soft water in cooking meat and vegetables. Peas and beans cooked in hard water, containing lime or gypsum, will not boil tender, because the substances harden vegetable

For extracting the juice of meat to make a broth or soup, soft water, unsalted, and cold at first, is the best, for it much more readily penetrates the tissue, but for boiling, when the juices should be retained, hard water, or soft water, is preferred.

If you are in doubt about the water, the common test is soap. Hard water will not make a suds freely, while soft water will.

GOOD FOR AFTERNOON TEA

Dainty Chocolate Cake That Has the Indorsement of the Best French Cooks.

A little French chocolate cake which comes from a New Orleans cook makes a delightful afternoon tea cake. It is called "petit chou au chocolat."

Take the saucepan from the fire and stir the contents for about ten minutes, then add two eggs, one at a time. Beat the mixture up with a wooden spoon and put it aside to cool.

Revival of the Quilt.

Ham a La Venison.

This is a dainty for Sunday night suppers: Put one tablespoon butter and one tablespoon currant jelly in a frying pan and melt over low fire. When melted, lay in some slices of cooked ham, and fry each side until almost ready to burn. Remove to a hot platter and garnish with parsley.

London Fagots.

Try these: One pound of liver, one half pound of suet, one onion (all chopped fine), one quart of stale bread crumbs, one teaspoon of poultry dressing, salt and pepper to suit taste, one egg (or a little milk) to moisten it. Mold with flour into cakes and fry in deep fat.

Rice Balls With Figs.

Line buttered cups with cold rice, which has been cooked in milk until tender, fill the centers with chopped figs, cover with rice, steam for half an hour and let cool. When ready to serve, turn on to individual plates and serve with whipped cream, sweetened and slightly flavored with vanilla.

Dr. Pierce's FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

Give it a fair trial for banishing those distressing pains or drains on one's vitality. This prescription of Dr. Pierce's regulates all the womanly functions. It eradicates and destroys "Female Complaints" and makes women miserable and old before their time. Every girl needs it before womanhood. Every mother needs it. It is an invigorating tonic for the female system. All medicine dealers have sold it with satisfaction, to customers for the past 40 years. GOLF DREAM THAT CAME TRUE

The Drive Made by an Englishman Was Regarded as an Impossible Achievement.

A story of a golfer's dream that came true comes from the Rochford Hundred Golf club, near South-end-on-Sea.

One of the members, E. Simpson, entering the club house, said he dreamed the previous evening that he had drove a ball over a sheet of water bounded by a high hedge and a wire fence, on the green and into the hole in one shot.

"Of course, that is the Pond hole, the short fifth," laughed the members.

"What is the betting against your dream coming true?" asked one. "I give you a hundred to one in sovereigns."

"And I give a thousand pounds to ten pounds," said a sporting city magnate.

Mr. Simpson could see nothing in these tempting odds except the sure loss of his money. To hole out in one comes to few golfers in a lifetime, so he made no bet.

He said afterwards that he felt an eerie sensation, and shook at the knees. He was sure he did not keep his "eye on the ball," or rather his "mind's eye."

The couple in front stood near the green awaiting eventualities. Straight for the pin came the ball. It dropped gently on the grass 20 feet away, and with its last revolution, trickled into the hole.

A wild whoop and frantic gesticulations testified to Mr. Simpson that his dream had been fulfilled; also that he had lost a small fortune by declining the bet offered him.—London Express.

San Francisco's municipal street railway to ferry to ocean is causing the United Railroads much uneasiness. Notwithstanding the U. R. is doing some talking through the medium of the hired press of San Francisco, the municipal street railway has proved to be a big dividend producer for the city, and is showing the people how the United Railroads is fattening off the public and can pay $75,000 a year to its president who lives in Cleveland, and clean a million dollars per year besides.

Rat Plague.

The campaign being waged against rats by Health Commissioner Blake, assisted by the city council and the public generally is to be commended, when sanitary and health conditions are taken into consideration. There is a difference of opinion between eminent rodent exterminators as to the time to wage war on the rat variety of rodents. It is a well known fact that rats scatter to the fields and in all directions and places during the dry summer months making it difficult to round them up. In the winter months and during the rainy season, rats concentrate, their haunts being easy of access when they can be exterminated without much effort.

The Japs of a Placer county town celebrated the Fourth by erecting a platform, reading the Declaration of Independence and singing U. S. patriotic songs.
